One-design sailboat racing is a simple game (first one to the finish line wins). There is a never-ending learning curve with this sport, but this seminar will focus on a few of the essential ways to become more competitive and enjoy the sport more fully.

	April 4	It all starts with the START: Learn the Rules, get confidence, and if you're not over early once in a while you're not trying hard enough – Clark Chapin
	April 11	At the Marks: The crew is at least half the team, the helmsman just steers and replies, "Yes Dear" – Tom Ehman
	April 25	Once Around the Course: The most frequently encountered rule situations and avoiding the Interlakes – Brian Hawkins
	May 2	Race Management 101: How to conduct a race at PYC without getting sunburned – Bill O'Donnel

Each participant will receive a copy of "Sailor's Guide to the Racing Rules" by US Sailing, a brief and concise introduction to the rules you need to know.
