Craig Kivi, waterfront specialist, has always had a deep curiosity of our lakes and streams. His background and experience as a licensed fishing charter captain, hardware store owner, Michigan lake tester, and real estate broker make him a unique resource with a focused set of skills to help folks who would like to live on the water or who already call the lake their home.

Craig is also on the board of directors for the Portage Base Whitewood Owners Association, is a certified MSU/Michigan Lake and Stream Association leader, is a member of the Michigan Clean Water Corps (tester for Tamarack and Little Portage as part of the Cooperative lakes monitoring program), and is on the Laughing Duck Nature Center Board.
